

CITY CREWS WORK FAR INTO NIGHT TO KEEP STREETS OPEN

County Apparatus Passes Over Second-ave But Won't Remove Snow

Complaint exists among numerous motorists in regard to the tardiness of opening the entire length of Second-ave, which is a part of state highway 18, and also a part of the asylum-sanatorium which the county board of supervisors had ordered kept open during the winter.

The snow plow tractor of the county highway department was observed to pass over Second-ave three times in one day, but during that time the plow had not been lowered and no snow was removed. The city street department, which looks after the condition of that part of Second-ave that lies between Richmond-st and Freedom, looked askance at the county apparatus, believing it would not have cost the county any extra effort to lower the plow as it was passing over that section.

Since the county highway department, however, did no work whatever on the road after the last snow fall, the city street department ploughed open the entire avenue. Apparatus and employees of the street department have been working nights until midnight to keep the roads open, according to R. M. Connelley, city street commissioner and engineer. Every street in the city had been ploughed open after the first snow storm and, before the recent snow fall.

ARGENTEUIL LAUDS WINE OF LONG AGO

By Associated Press
Paris — The famous wine of Argenteuil has disappeared from the memory of living men, but there remains in France so keen an appreciation of what it once was that the people of this French town, a few miles outside of Paris, recently celebrated the first making of this beverage a thousand years ago. Lacking even a single bottle of the wine they acclaimed, champagne was substituted by the merry-makers who met to toast a dead industry.

History abounds in references to the excellence of this product of the Argenteuil vineyards, and records also that many years ago the last bottle came from the press and was consumed. The railroads at that time began bringing wine to Paris from the south, and the fields of Argenteuil were turned over to the production of fresh vegetables for the tables of the capital. Today Argenteuil is known the country over for its asparagus, yet it was the making of the first wine, in the year 923, that was celebrated with music, speeches, a parade and general jollification.

C. C. GUARANTEES COUNTY'S QUOTA FOR ADVERTISING

Land O' Lakes Association Assured Of Support In Appleton

Directors of Appleton Chamber of Commerce, at a special meeting in Conway hotel Friday noon, unanimously agreed to guarantee Outagamie-co's quota of $2,041 in the nationwide advertising campaign which will be carried on by Wisconsin Land O' Lakes, Inc. The chamber's publicity committee was instructed to raise the money.

Three members of the board of managers of the association attended the meeting and presented the appeal to directors who did not attend the gathering Thursday evening. There was very little discussion after the case was presented. The directors were "sold" on the idea of advertising Wisconsin and declared there would be little difficulty in securing the necessary money.

The Land O' Lakes association is endeavoring to raise $50,000 or $60,000 to advertise Wisconsin's resources and tourist resorts in order to attract visitors to the state. Appleton is on the direct tourist route to the lake country of the north and hopes to reap material benefit from the greatly increased tourist traffic which advertising is expected to create.

Outagamie-Co Helping "Mother Of Mercy" To Save German Children

Little children fighting a losing fight against disease are finding their spark of life flamed to a glowing flame by the dollars that are being raised in Outagamie-co and throughout the state and nation for their relief.

America as a great mother of mercy is giving them the food they have needed to keep their bodies strong enough to resist tuberculosis and other diseases. Reports are being compiled here by Secretary Hugh G. Corlett, secretary of the county committee, and it is believed the figures will reveal how kindly the local people are toward those who are suffering.

Contributing here is a simple process. There is no "red tape" to go through to help the 7,000,000 children in at his nearest bank and deposit the gift, or he may send currency or check by mail to his bank. An official receipt will be issued and the transaction is done.

When a person gives a dollar here for this work, part of it doesn't stay in America to pay somebody for pushing this campaign. All of it goes into the purchase of food. Not a cent goes into shipping expense. The food is carried to Europe free of charge. American Quakers distribute it carefully there, asking nothing for their services. It is 100 per cent relief and is a splendid opportunity to help the unfortunate.

BEAUTY is generously expressed. True proportions, straight body lines, subdued curves, low hung chassis, modish fittings, disc wheels, oversized tires,—all combine for dignified smartness.

Comfort is in abundance. A clean front compartment, large-dimensioned seats and backs, long springs, these are typical.

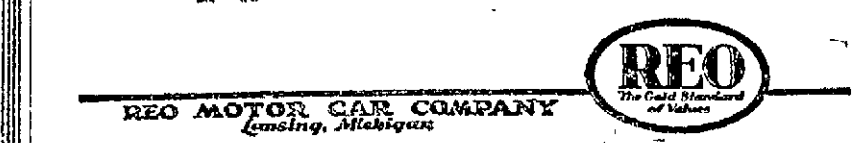

High-powered performance follows the 50 h. p. six-cylinder engine, which gives power a plenty for every driving condition.

The double frame cradling of power units furthers Reo's twenty-year-old reputation for chassis reliability.

Safety is sharply emphasized by planned road balance, greatly oversized brakes, simple dual foot control and easy steering.

DANCE HALL LAW GOES INTO EFFECT HERE NEXT MONDAY

Tomorrow Is Last Sunday For Dancing In Outagamie
County

Tomorrow will be the last Sunday on which dancing will be permitted in Outagamie-co. The county dance hall ordinance adopted by the county board last fall becomes effective on Monday, Jan. 14.

On the same day the county motor vehicle ordinance similar to the state speed laws in defining speed limits will go into effect. The purpose of this ordinance is that the fines now being collected for speeding on rural highways will henceforth revert to the county instead of the state.

The dance hall ordinance calls for the appointment of inspectors to supervise public dances. Between sessions of the county board they are appointed by county supervisors. Eight have thus far been selected. Their appointment, however, is subject to approval by the county board.

Inspectors have been appointed in the Third ward, Appleton, and towns of Grand Chute, Greenville, Cicero and Liberty. Inspectors appointed by Joseph Bayer of Appleton are George Vogel, 502 State-st., and William E. Smit, 1205 Lawrence-st. P. A. Grant of Grand Chute has appointed Jacob J. Demerath of Little Chute and Edward Kaphingst, 764 Second-ave. H. M. Culbertson of Greenville appointed Roy H. Menning, Route 2, Appleton. Fred Drephal of Cicero appointed Theodore Mielke of Route 3, Black Creek. Elwood Brewer and Alvin Elise, R. 4, New London, were appointed by John Sawall in the town of Liberty. Fred Ahlman is named for Black Creek by Ferdinand Zochell, chairman.

After Monday all dance halls must close at 1 a. m. and on Saturday nights at 12 midnight to remain closed until Monday. There is to be no suggestive dancing, or dancing with dim or extinguished lights, nor any loitering, or drinking of intoxicating liquor. Children under 16 are barred unless accompanied by parents or legal guardian. There are to be no pass-out checks, and each dance hall must have an indoor toilet. Violation of the ordinance not only deprives the proprietor of his license but subjects him to a fine of $25 to $200 or imprisonment of 30 days in jail.

Freshmen Council Reduces Number Of Student Failures

The "solar eyes" special this year carried home fewer flunkers from the Lawrence college freshman class than ever before, and organized campaign to reduce failures among new students has been a success, Prof. R. C. Mullenix, dean of freshmen, has declared.

"If freshmen have failed, it is nobody's fault but their own," said Dr. Mullenix. The newly organized freshmen council of which he is chairman has had frequent consultations with freshmen in scholastic difficulties to assist the youngsters in their work.

The problem of freshmen "stuck out" was lessened this year by the refusal of college authorities to admit a number of applicants who come with poor high school records. An additional number entered on strict probation. Some of these have left college of their own accord, some have removed their probation, some have been asked to leave college, while a very limited number has been continued on probation for the first six weeks of the second quarter which began Jan. 4. Professor Mullenix said.

SUBMIT TO TESTS
Under the direction of J. H. Griffiths, professor of psychology, each freshman took a standard intelligence test during the first quarter. In addition to this, the college maintained a course in campus fundamentals for the purpose of teaching the freshmen how to study.

The freshman council will have a better basis for its work next year, it is thought, as there will then be comparative records by which its success can be measured. The work this year, Dr. Mullenix suggested, was more or less difficult to value, because there have been no satisfactory records of previous freshman classes.

Other members of the council are Prof. J. C. LaMer, L. C. Baker, A. H. Weston, W. L. McPherson, W. B. Rogers, P. M. Ingler, W. F. Roney and J. H. Griffiths.

CHURCH CELEBRATES ABILITY TO PAY WAY

First English Lutheran Congregation Independent Of Outside Help

On Sunday members of the First English Lutheran church will celebrate their "declaration of independence" from the mission board which had helped support the church since its inception. Until Jan. 1 the congregation had been known as a mission, because the church debt had been reduced considerably and because the congregation has been and is growing rapidly. It was decided to declare itself independent and self-sustaining, and so on Sunday two special services of thanksgiving will be held. The principal speakers are to be the Rev. L. F. Gast of Green Bay and the Rev. G. E. Kuhlman of Oshkosh, who were speakers at the dedication of the church building. The former will speak in the morning at the 10:30 service and the latter at the evening service at 7:30. The present pastor is the Rev. P. C. Reuter.

In December, 1924, the home mission board extended a call to Paul W. Nesper, a student of theology in the seminary at Columbus, Ohio, to carry on mission work in Appleton. The Rev. Mr. Nesper accepted the call and the installation services were held April 15, 1915 in Zion church. Services were held every Sunday in Zion school until July 18, 1915. After that the congregation held its services in Temple Zion for a year. On May 13, 1916, the church was incorporated and one week later purchased the property on the corner of North and Drew-sts. Late in the fall the erection of a chapel was started. In June, 1916, the congregation again was obliged to look for new quarters and worshiped in the Maieside theater until the chapel was dedicated in Feb. 18, 1917. The speakers at this service were the Rev. Mr. Gast and the Rev. Mr. Kuhlman, who will speak here Sunday.

In November the Rev. Mr. Nesper left the church to take a position with the synod's book concern. He is now located at St. James Lutheran church, Wheeling, Va. The Rev. A. R. Nicholson took temporary charge until the present pastor, the Rev. Mr. Reuter, was installed on Jan. 9, 1921.

In the fall of 1921 the congregation purchased the property adjoining the church on North-st. The church is now no longer known as the First English Lutheran mission, but as the First English Lutheran congregation, which numbers 220 communicants and 70 voting members.

Milwaukee, Wis. — "For the last twenty years I have used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery at times, as a general tonic with excellent results. One bottle in the spring, and one in the fall, is usually sufficient. It gives me added strength and endurance and greatly aids me in following my strenuous occupation. I have also found Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets very beneficial and mild in action."

THREE NEW CLUBS OPEN TO BOYS OF Y. M. C. A.

New educational clubs open to members of the Y. M. C. A. this year are (name), radio and poster of painting. John Harrison has been secured to lead the radio club and Lawrence Zwicker will supervise the work on posters and signs. Class periods will be announced later.

Considerable interest is being shown also in the formation of a boys' department shoe club and orchestra. All these activities are open to the membership and there still is room for others who may wish to take advantage of them.

No Normand Pictures

John King, proprietor of the Little Chute theater has announced that he will not show pictures in which Mabel Normand plays a part. He has canceled "Mickey," which he had engaged to appear in Little Chute some time in the future. This decision was reached after the shooting affair in Los Angeles in which Miss Normand figured.

NEW ADAMS AND EVES

This striking sentence appears in a report of Dr. H. H. Laughlin cited by the committee on selective immigration of the eugenics committee of the United States:

"Immigration is a long-time investment in family stocks rather than a short-time investment in productive labor."

A copy should be mailed to Elbert Gary of the United States Steel corporation, who wants the bars let down so that his company can find cheaper workmen, and to all others of the same mind.

Every pair of incoming immigrants must be regarded as we might regard Adam and Eve, set down on this continent today—not as individuals but as the progenitors of a race, whose blood will flow in the veins of infinite numbers of Americans to come.

When the people of the United States have come to look upon immigrants as long-time investments they will stop admitting feeble-minded on "paper bonds" which are forfeited but never collected.

They will stop admitting so large a percentage of immigrants from southeastern Europe, where our institutions are not understood and the racial stock has proved itself incapable of successful assimilation.

They will examine immigrants abroad, before issuing consular certificates, to determine their inherited mentality and physical capacity.

Letting each immigrant stand for Adam and each immigrant woman for Eve, it is our business to ask: Should we care to have the human race start from such stock as this—and, even more important, shall we care to have the American stock of the future intermingle and incorporate with it?

BACK TO LOGROLLING?

The budget system, the "community chest" of the United States, is in danger. Congressman Wallace S. Dempsey of New York has introduced a bill to split up the approximating power now vested in the united appropriations committee of each house. He would turn this power back to all the little committees which used to be agencies for all sorts of small graft and inefficiency. Each of these piecemeal bodies would split up its lump sum as it pleased, shirking here in order to waste somewhere else for the sake of votes. That is what happened before and it would happen again.

Mr. Dempsey is chairman of the rivers and harbors committee. Last year when the budget system got through with the appropriation estimate for rivers and harbors President Harding indicated the pork barrel had been humored too much. He said he would see to it, by using his own power as executive, that the people's money was not wasted on the enlargement of Anklodeep Creek, the drainage of Watebilly Pond and the dredging of various Rivers of Doubt. Thereupon loud complaint was raised by all the barrel dippers in congress, and there were threats that the army and navy appropriations would be held up.

The vote-buying and logrolling sentiment is still running strong in Washington. It is still difficult for politicians to acquire that refinement of soul necessary to the perception that they are not in congress to spend the people's money merely to get themselves re-elected, but to spend it economically and honestly. The budget system, which is gradually opening their eyes, is still applied only under protest.

But, congress has learned to be afraid of the budget system, even if it does not like it. Mr. Dempsey's bill to undermine that system and obtain his revenge upon it, reviving the petty though expensive privileges of the little committees, will probably be voted down. Little by little the politicians are learning that their constituents demand efficient government and careful economy and will not be lulled by free seeds or unnecessary public buildings. The point of view of the individual statesman is broadening. Party responsibility and public interest are forcing an abandonment of the old-time logrolling scheme on which numerous committees used to thrive.

FEWER LYNCHINGS

From sixty-one lynchings in the United States in 1922 the total of these blotches upon southern state escutcheons has fallen in 1923 to twenty-six, or a reduction of 57 per cent.

Though numerous reasons have been offered, including the scare thrown into southern states by the Dyer bill and the decline in the occasion for murder due to the intimidating influence of the Ku Klux Klan, undoubtedly the principal cause has been a sudden rise in the stock ticker of the Negro race due to its tremendous migration to the north. For the first time the south has been learning that its colored population is not only a problem but a vital asset.

When farms go vacant, cotton lies un-picked, factories whistle for hands in vain, the Negro—main cog of southern industry—gains caste. There are indications that the migration to crowded northern centers may be bad for the men and women who have sought new homes. Statistics prove that the death rate of the black race in urban districts is remarkably high. But the exodus will encourage a decent respect for the Negro in the south. The decline of the lynching horror is a significant gauge of a swift change already recorded.

FLEA SWATTING ABROAD

There is probably no sounder proof of the tremendous European influence Americans might wield if they chose than the universal disposition to seek out their individual services for jobs demanding impartiality and a certain courageous honesty all too foreign to the arts of the mill run of diplomats.

Nobody is trusted, for the business of cracking hard nuts of arbitration, like a hard-headed Yankee business man or civil administrator: nobody else is quite so sure of having his decision respected by both sides.

But a good thing can be worked too fine. "Owing to the press of previous engagements" Brand Whitlock and Charles Beecher Warren have declined in turn an invitation to be chairman of the committee to settle the squabble at Memel between the Poles and the Lithuanians. Harry Sinclair is not interested in the proffered kingship of Albania.

The famous Toledoan, the noted Detroit lawyer and the oil king simply can't be bothered. That fresh and pristine enthusiasm for participation in foreign affairs which has been so characteristic of adventurous Americans is wearing off.

A teapenny kingdom or an obscure dispute which the parties ought to halt by getting their heads together for five minutes no longer takes precedence over a novel under way, a lawsuit or a prospective oil strike, the proceeds from any one of which might exceed a European king's ransom.

Europeans should learn to attend to their own trifles. We will stop their wars if they go too far, as one pushes pups back into a kennel; but we hate to leave our work to swat their fleas for them. Unfortunately, America's foreign policy of isolation has left nothing much but fleas to swat.

It takes so little to make some people happy. Spokane man says he is glad he is in jail.

About 200 people sang on a Chicago stage. This is enough singers to make 4000 neighbors mad.

Lower wool prices are predicted for 1924, unless they find the wool over consumers' eyes.

Meat packers claim prices are down, but butchers say they are being raised by the wholesale.

A thirst for knowledge helps you and so does a knowledge of what you use for your thirst.

Statistics of last year show very few bootleggers lost money.

The market price for skeletons is only two dollars each. Never believe what a bootlegger says.

THE WHOLESALE CULTURE OF BOILS

Comparatively few readers seek light on the question of why a boil—probably because most human beings do not aspire to solve insoluble mysteries like that and the reason why women universally skip page two in writing a letter and then go back to it after they have finished page three. But a powerful lot of letters, and remarkably cheerful ones they are, too, says we ask what drives folks in to the wholesale culture of boils when the business is not only unprofitable but positively distasteful.

This question could have been answered much better 100 years ago. The doctor would have "explained" that the "blood was out of order" and needed "purifying." Or that the "system was full of humors," or some thing equally enlightening. Then he would have prescribed about 23 medicines, combined in a mysterious "blood purifier." The almanac still believe in the "blood purifier"—for what there is in it for the firm. No one else does. Fortunately for the morals of the race, hygienic living is the only real purifier of the blood.

In order to account for a crop of boils we must first endeavor to trace the origin of boil No. 1. We find that boils are produced by various species of germs which come from the air, or from the soil, or from the most cleanly personal habits. If the skin is broken, even by a slight puncture or abrasion, as by the rubbing of a seam or a careless scratching with the finger nail, there is an opening for a grand boil. A sort of charity boil, you might call it, given for the benefit of homeless and friendless staphylococci and streptococci. These little staphs and streps are only moderately virulent or villainous ordinarily. But after they have been dined and wine for a time by the kindly host they become much more so, and from this period onward they will make trouble—they or their descendants—on the slightest provocation. The fingers of the host convey them from the primary seat of invasion to other favored localities, and the victim will find a way, once they are, so to speak, urged to the task.

The cause of crops of boils is re-infection by careless handling. If you touch your boil, your fingers are contaminated, and you must cleanse the hands as scrupulously as the surgeon cleanses his before an operation. Not one in a hundred cleanly individual has the decency to do this, even after the remedy for crops of boils is vaccine treatment. It takes from 12 to 30 doses of vaccine. The vaccine should be prepared by a bacteriologist who determines precisely which species or strain of germs are causing the boils and makes the vaccine fit the individual.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

What I Need From Nature's Bridge
I have written you three times and sent self addressed envelopes and received no reply. Now I don't consider you are treating me and others fair when you answer the same question more than once. When you say there is no such thing as a cold or rheumatism, you are away off your base. What's the difference if it's called cold or coryza? (A reader.)

Answer: I am sorry that you failed to receive a reply. Possibly you asked for something I cannot do, such as a diagnosis of treatment. The advantage in calling it coryza is much the same as calling "a certain party" John Henry Jones—for it is harder for them to switch John Henry Jones on you, isn't it, if it comes to a showdown?

For Instance
I am expecting to become a mother in August. We have a nice little dog but he bothers me quite a bit and I have been told by my neighbors that my baby will surely be marked. (Mrs. K. M.)
Answer: There is no such thing as "marking" an unborn infant. Don't get rid of the little dog, if he is a family pet. Get rid of the gossiping neighbors.

Sweet Cream
Is it true that by drinking sweet cream (half pint) every day the heart gets fat? Please print only initials. I would not want my name to appear in the paper.—Mrs. P. M.

Answer: In 10 years I have never printed the name nor divulged the identity of a correspondent. If the cream doesn't make you too fat for your height and age you need have no anxiety about any injury to your heart. It is fine food if you can get away with it.

SPOOFED AGAIN

One day I met a maiden fair,
With golden locks beyond compare,
I wrote an ode upon her hair,
Enthralled quite, by her tresses rare,
Her guileless ways did me ensnare;
I lost my heart but didn't cure,
I culled one fatal morning where
She lived to lay my secret bare.
All unannounced by trumpets blare,
To go again I'd never dare,
For when I met her on the stair,
Her charming tresses were not there;
She'd left them hanging on the chair.

Dear Rollo: I read on article in Wednesday's paper, stating that Wisconsin is the greatest dairy market in the world. Furthermore, when I was a kid our geographers placed this state as the leading dairy state in the union. Then why in heck do boarders have to eat oleomargarine?

—E. M. L.
Not so good, Rollo, but maybe my boarding-house lady would take note of it.

Hired Escorts For Women Are Newest Novelty

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C. — The new feminine practice of hiring men escorts promises to become a recognized social custom now that various colleges have given it their sanction. A recent report from that progressive town, Emporia, Kansas, tells of a collegiate bureau, where student escorts may be obtained at the nominal charge of 25 cents. And from Los Angeles comes the news that students of the University of California are selling their services as squire to unattended dames in order to defray their college expenses.

This innovation is viewed as a great triumph by those who rejoice in women's economic independence and the complete equality of the sexes. Men they complain have always been able to buy feminine companionship with money, but heretofore this privilege has been denied to women. A man may be personally unattractive, but if he has the price of an excellent dinner and theater tickets he seldom has any difficulty in getting a comely woman to accompany him, whereas a woman with a moderately fat pocketbook hesitates to buy the attendance of a man. Once the professional escort comes into general fashion, however, all inhibitions of this sort will naturally vanish.

In a few years we may expect to find the girls ordering escorts as nonchalantly as they now order taxi-cabs. When a damsel is suddenly seized with the desire to attend a cabaret or hotel dinner dance all she will have to do is call the nearest escort agency and place an order which will probably be something like this: "Send me over a man who can dance, this evening, preferably one who is tall and dark and not too dull. No, not the one you sent last time. I have heard all his favorite stories before, and dislike that oriental perfume he uses. If you make this a good order I will raise the fee from $10 to $15 and pay all transportation expenses. Have him here by 8:30 sure. Goo' bye."

The entire arrangement, in fact, is said to be excellent from the woman's point of view. It is on a strictly business basis, and she is under no obligations. She pays for what she gets—an escort—and having paid, she does not have to be at all entertaining unless she wants to. They go to a hotel dinner dance. She pays for the dinner. Later, they go to one of the theater shows, where there is dancing and food. Again she pays the bill.

As a means of earning a fairly easy living, the arrangement is also highly satisfactory to the escort. He is not, as might be expected, a very brilliant or ambitious fellow. Before the dance craze which swept the world in 1913, he was probably a clerk, but since the entrance of the fox-trot he has applied himself with painstaking diligence to being a courier. In this he has to a large extent succeeded. He is not cultured, but he knows the city and its ways, particularly in dancing and theatrical circles, and can describe them entertainingly. He reads a newspaper thoroughly every morning in order to keep up with the topics of the day. In short, he has perfected the art of being an agreeable companion.

In St. Louis they put a Cow in the Zoo!

"It's a waste of money," many said
"Everyone knows what a cow looks like."

BUT DO THEY?

We'll make a rough guess that there are thousands of children in large cities who have never seen a cow—and there are dozens of local families who pass this store every day without knowing the strength of this organization when it comes right down to heightening the purchasing power of a dollar.

Q. Since Germany has issued a new currency, why doesn't the state of the mark improve? A. M.

Q. Where can I get details about the cancer cure that Dr. William Henry Verno has discovered? H. S.

A. The American Society for the Cure of Cancer says that Dr. William Verno, who has made large gifts to further cancer research work, says that the statement published in papers quoting him as saying cancer research doctors in London had discovered the cause of cancer, was "an entire misquotation." He said he had merely meant research was going on in the British capital, but that he knew nothing about a cure or the cause of cancer having been discovered.

Can't Shake Old Spelling Habit

(From The Pathfinder.)
Why is it that our highbrow magazines and highbrow book publishers spell words in the English style which has become so generally obsolete in this country and use English terms in place of ordinary American ones? Why use the spelling "centre" instead of "center," "plough" instead of "plow," "labour" instead of "labor," "cheque" instead of "check," etc? What is there so cultured about such archaic spellings?
While of course no absolute rules can be laid down for spelling, since spelling is constantly changing, and views as to what is proper will necessarily differ, the sensible thing for Americans is not to give preference to forms which are obsolete in this country and do try to use London.
Other things being equal, the better spelling is the one that is shorter. For instance "catalog" is better than "catalogue," "mold" is better than "mould," etc. We can be certain that the forms which are obsolete in this country and do try to use London.
At the same time some of the reformed spellings, though sensible, are too extreme to adopt. In spelling we may well heed the advice given by Pope on things in general: "Use not the first by whom the new is tried, nor yet the last to lay the old aside."

Easter Choir Meets Again Monday Eve

More Singers Are Invited To Enrol To Train For "Messiah" Oratorio

A second opportunity will be given Appleton singers at 7:15 Monday evening at Lawrence Memorial chapel to enroll in the community chorus which will sing Handel's "Messiah" Easter Sunday under direction of Dean Carl J. Waterman of Lawrence Conservatory of Music.

Ninety-three reported for the first rehearsal last Monday and it is expected that the work of committee-men in various churches will bring the number nearer to the goal of 150 as the minimum of townspeople in the chorus.

Dean Waterman promises that the college will furnish a large number of singers if the city will do its part. A general committee composed of representatives of the Protestant churches is in charge of the project and is seeking out singers of the various churches as candidates for the massive chorus.

Those who feel reluctant to enroll are invited to come to the chapel anyway and hear the choir go through some of the choruses. The "Messiah" oratorio is one of the most splendid of the sacred compositions and the singers are delighted with their first impressions of it.

Members of Appleton Mannerchor have enrolled in the choir and will be present Monday night.

HAD TO LET HOUSEWORK GO

So Ill Husband had to do the Work. Completely Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

South Bend, Indiana. "I was all run-down, tired out, and had pains in my back and beating-down pains. I was so sore I could hardly drag myself around and was not able to do a bit of housework. My husband worked all day in the shop and when he came home and helped me at night. The doctors said I had female weakness, and there was no help but to be operated upon, and of course that would cost us a great deal. My husband heard about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at the factory and one night he stopped at the drug store and bought me a bottle of it. I had begun to think there was no help for me, but I took three bottles of it and now I feel like myself once more. The price for three bottles wasn't so much as the doctor had charged. I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough."—Mrs. DORA OSBORN, 430 Sherman Ave., South Bend, Indiana.

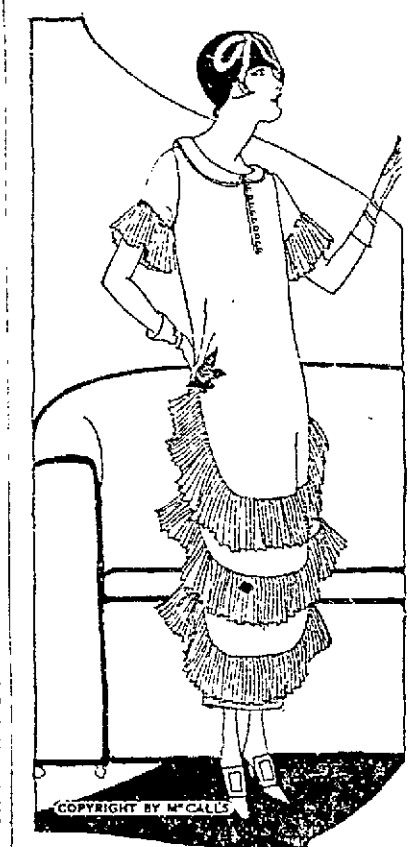

Women troubled with female weakness should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

Examine 20 Children At Baby Clinic

Marked Improvement Is Shown In Children Previously Examined At Clinic

Only 20 children were examined at the second baby clinic at Appleton Women's club on Friday. Of these, five had been examined before and showed marked improvement. There were ten children of pre-school age and ten babies. The next clinic will be held early in February, but the date has not been set.

Because the committee in charge does not get word of the date of the clinic until a few days before it is to be held, it has been difficult to get touch with the mothers who wish to bring their children for examination. If those who wish to attend the February clinic will remember that it will be early in February it will be easier for them to attend. The date will be announced just as early as the committee knows it. The doctor can examine 40 babies during the day.

KEEP AERIALS IN REPAIR TO ASSURE GOOD RECEPTION

Twisted And Bent Supports And Wires Won't Stand High Winds

"What goes up must surely come down," remarked a man to a friend as they watched workmen gather up the fragments of a wrecked airplane.

"Oh, I don't know! How about the price of coal and rents?" facetiously replied his friend.

Without taking sides in the matter, it is very evident that many radio fans seem to regard their aerials and the poles supporting as in the same class as the prices of anthracite and parlor-bedroom-and-bath.

How some of these are ever going to weather the winter is more than the laws of physics can forecast. If there is any curve in the insulation known to the anything-but-upright position of the aerial supports, it would be difficult to imagine what that curvature could be.

Pisa has its one leaning tower, but the United States has become the country of leaning aerial supports. Where once the eye with fancy gables and tiled turret, the eye now is fascinated by an attempt to estimate how much longer these weather-beaten poles will defy the laws of gravity.

An aerial on the roof is worth two on the ground. Note, "on" the ground, not "under" the ground. There's a difference. Underground, as do aerials installed in cellars and in other indoor compartments.

Take an afternoon off as soon as possible and give the wave catcher the careful once-over. Look at all the wires and see if they are sagged or weakened. If so, replace them with new. If the aerial is tarnished, replace it or use a bit of emery or sandpaper.

Cracked insulators are a "welcome" sign to moisture, and once the cracks are filled, the "frost does the rest." Broken insulators mean imperfect reception. Examine every joint carefully.

Fans, get ready to listen in on the proceedings of the next republican national convention, to be held in the largest auditorium in the United States.

The convention, according to schedule, will not convene until next June, but the advance notice ought to give every fan plenty of time to get ready to tune in on an event which will be historic not only to national life, but also as a matter of radio history.

This great auditorium is located in Cleveland, and has a capacity of more than 14,000 persons. Lincoln G. Dickey, manager of the hall, is making plans to install in this vast interior, a system of microphones that will carry to the nation, through a chain of broadcasting stations, not only the speeches of the convention, but the voices of the assembled thousands of delegates and spectators, and last, but not least, the music of the great organ, the thunder of which can fill even this great interior.—Crosley Weekly.

RADIO FORCES MAN TO REMAIN HOME AT NIGHT

The golf widow is joined by the radio widow. A Minneapolis woman sues for divorce, charging that her husband paid more attention to his radio than to her and that he swore horribly when his tuning-in was interrupted.

With the golf widow we have always sympathized, because the game tends to keep an otherwise domesticated male away from his home. But radio has exactly the opposite influence. It forces the fan to surround himself with family life. No family, no radio.

As for the searing, it is regrettable, but it cannot be charged against radio. Anything that interrupts the course of true love of a profound and novel interest is likely to produce profanity. No doubt the man now being sued for divorce swore just as vigorously in the past when the lady who is now suing him was late for her engagements.—(Chicago Herald-Examiner.)

Radio Hints

A flat top aerial is an aerial that has more than one wire in it arranged so that it is parallel to the earth. The T aerial is the same type with the ten-inch coming from the center. In the inverted L aerial, the lead-in comes from one end. The cage aerial is the type that has several wires arranged on hooks forming sort of a cage. The single wire aerial is as efficient as any when used for receiving only.

Radio will be featured at the electrical exposition in the Australian capital next September. The electrical exhibition, under the auspices of the Victoria Electrical federation, will be held in Melbourne.

TUNING IN ON RADIO

RADIO FAN WILL GO ON LISTENING-IN IN SPITE OF LEVIES

Impossible To Reach All Radio Enthusiasts With Broadcasting Tax

By ISRAEL KLEIN

Recent reports that wired wireless, under government supervision will replace the present system of radio need bring no fears to the dyed-in-the-wool radio fan. Receiving concerts through rented sets only, and over accredited electric light or power lines, may be the outcome of present difficulties in broadcasting, but loopholes present themselves.

England started broadcasting to the amateur who makes his own set with what little wires and tubes and other paraphernalia he can collect. Setting up a monopoly in such a "commodity" it is found, is practically impossible.

But the officials and radio engineers failed to include the real fan, the amateur who makes his own set with what little wires and tubes and other paraphernalia he can collect. Setting up a monopoly in such a "commodity" it is found, is practically impossible.

So the British have tried to solve their problem by reducing the license fee and trying to induce outsiders to pay the lower tolls. That is left altogether to the discretion of the outlay fans, who can't be routed out whatever the inducement, and who can go on listening in on the broadcast.

A similar situation may be expected in this country if the practice of renting and licensing radio sets is put into effect. In fact, the number of outlay fans would be proportionately greater in this country than in England, as the number of radio fans here is today. And in England, the officials estimate 200,000 outlay radio sets are in use.

Leave it to the ingenuity of the American amateur to find a way out. He can build any kind of a set with the scraps he has on hand, and he can find a way to tune in even on the wired form of wireless.

THE RESULT OF A MONOPY IN radio broadcasting might be a monopoly in the manufacture of radio sets for rental only. But parts would also be built and these parts would easily go into the individual sets that amateurs will put up for their own use.

Limitation of manufacture of radio sets and parts, and institution of a fee on the manufacturer for each set, might be even a better way to collect funds for payment to the lecturers, singers and others who are asked to broadcast their specialties.

Monopoly of broadcasting by wired wireless—the light and power companies—seems to be just as good an answer to the problem of broadcasting as has been the unsuccessful British monopoly.

School Concerts By Radio Phone

Sacramento, Calif.—Interscholastic competition may be a new function for radio, if indications from first experiments here are upheld by future tests.

Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction, recently held a spelling contest by radio, and drew enthusiastic response from 40 high schools with some 3000 senior students as participants.

While every school listened in, the series of spelling tests were conducted from a central broadcasting station.

"Practically all of the schools which took part in the contest have written in asking that I repeat the performance," says Wood. "I intend to do so, but the next time with a mental arithmetic test."

CITY FOLKS PAY FOR MUSIC FOR RURAL RESIDENTS

Farmers Can Tune In To Hear Same Things City Folks Pay To Hear

It is evening. The chores are done; the dishes are washed and put away. Pa is reading his paper. Ma is turning the leaves of her magazine. Sister is writing a letter. Brother is at the radio set turning the dials this way and that.

Suddenly a burst of music fills the room. Brother has "tuned in" on the grand opera performance that is being given in Chicago. An orchestra of 100 is playing the opening measures of the opera. The music comes into the living room of the farm home many miles distant from its source just as distinctly as though the family were sitting in the opera house where it is being given. At the last notes of the music die away, there is a burst of applause.

Radio has brought grand opera to the farm and to many thousands of other farms. And it has not cost the farm listener a cent. It is as free as the air.

In these days of radio the city folks have nothing on the farm folks. Music, vocal and instrumental; theatrical performances, lectures, news of the day, crop and weather reports all are flying over the trees and housetops, stopping wherever it is wanted. Farm folks are welcome to catch it. Lead it into the house and give everyone the pleasure and benefit of listening in. It is a simple process; it requires no skill other than a little experience in turning the dials.

And the beauty of it is the city folks pay the bill. They buy the tickets that make the opera and play, the concert and lecture possible, while all the farm folks have to do is "tune in" and get the entertainment—a little less thrilling, perhaps, because of inability to see the performances, but it's great stuff just the same.

One never knows how fascinating radio is until a set has been installed in the home. The great difficulty is that the members of the family don't get the regulation eight hours sleep. It's difficult to tear away from the radio set when there is so much to hear.

Owning a radio set is great; it furnishes crop and weather reports, and the big news of the day during the daylight hours; and then at night it gives the family an evening of the finest entertainment to be had anywhere in these good old United States.—(Farm Mechanics.)

NEW LONDON SEES FIRE TRUCK TESTS

City Officials Inspect Four Wheel Drive Apparatus At Clintonville

(Special to Post-Crescent)

New London—New London business men who had planned to attend the dinner given to the Clintonville fire company Wednesday evening by the chamber of commerce of that city, were unable to make the trip on account of bad roads. Mayor Wendlandt sent an official letter to be read at the banquet thanking the firemen for their service on New Year's day.

A delegation representing the city of New London witnessed a demonstration of the Four Wheel Drive fire truck at Clintonville Wednesday, and also was conducted through the F. W. D. factory to see the entire process of truck manufacture. Those who attended the demonstration were Earl Meikiejohn, August Meinhardt, Otto Froelich, Louis Schmalenberg and Henry Knapstein, Jr., aldermen, and C. J. Thompson, city clerk.

First Gessie street commissioner and Ray Thomas, superintendent of the city power plant.

The First National bank held its annual stockholders' meeting in Elwood hotel dining room on Tuesday afternoon of this week, preceded by a dinner at 1 o'clock. E. W. Wendlandt presided at the meeting. The members of the board of directors were re-elected as follows: E. H. Ramm, M. C. Traylor, F. L. Zaig, E. W. Wendlandt and H. S. Ritchie.

Stockholders of the Bank of New London assembled at Elwood hotel Tuesday evening for a 7 o'clock dinner, followed by the annual business meeting. E. G. Hildebrand presided at the business session. Thomas G. Roberts, cashier, presented his annual report and also spoke on the inauguration of the Ten Per Cent club campaign in the bank of New London.

The board of directors was re-elected; namely, J. G. Hildebrand, Krause, M. C. Traylor, M. P. Galien and William Manske. At a meeting of the directors following the stockholders' meeting, officers for the coming year were elected as follows: J. G. Hildebrand, president; P. Krause, vice president; Thomas G. Roberts, cashier and Harold G. Dahlke, assistant cashier.

The basketball game scheduled for Thursday evening in the Knights of Columbus hall at New London between the Clintonville and New London high school teams was called off when the Clintonville delegation was forced to turn back after traveling four miles through snow drifts. An other date in the near future, as the game promises to be a fast one. The teams have played against each other twice before this season, New London winning in the local hall by two points and Clintonville leading by four points on their own floor.

State Senator H. J. Severson who was scheduled to address the Rotary club at its Monday noon luncheon was unable to fulfill his engagement. The members provided their own entertainment by making impromptu speeches relating their personal history.

Bids for the Dixon house purchased last fall by the city when buying lots for the erection of a new high school building, will be received by the board of education before its next regular meeting on Wednesday evening of next week. All bids previously received have been of too low a figure to be accepted. If none of the bids offered at the next meeting are satisfactory, the building will be turned over the contractors for headquarters while the work of construction is in progress.

The Hatten Lumber company resumed work Wednesday evening of this week with a crew of 100 men.

LABOR EXECUTIVE WILL TELL MINERS' SIDE OF SQUABBLE

Milwaukee Man Comes To People's Forum To Answer Last Week's Speaker

An interesting discussion of the way the miners view the controversy between coal miners and coal mine operators will be given Sunday evening in Lawrence Memorial chapel by William Coleman, Milwaukee, member of the executive committee of the state federation of labor. Mr. Coleman is a fluent speaker who has made a careful study of labor's difficulties and problems. He is expected to reply to the arguments advanced by Milwaukee, who discussed the operators' viewpoint of the squabble.

The annual disputes between miners and operators have caused more distress and anxiety to the American people than any other domestic trouble. Every year there is a threat of strikes and often the threat is made a reality, resulting in great losses and often in actual suffering.

Mr. Coleman will discuss the miners' angle of this trouble. He is expected to show that miners are not to be blamed for all the trouble.

Fred E. Bachman, president of Appleton Trades and Labor council, has issued a statement urging all members of trades unions and all laboring men in the city to attend the meeting. Mr. Bachman will preside.

A musical program will start at 7:30 and the speaker is to start a half hour later. A collection is to be taken to defray expenses.

The musical program will be presented by Miss Margaret Engler, who is to play the "Suite for Organ" by James Rogers. This selection includes four parts: "Prologue," "March," "Intermezzo" and "Pocata."

The cartoon depicts a scene inside a house. On the left, a young boy named Mogul, wearing a white shirt, dark bow tie, and checkered shorts, stands next to a small dog. He is pointing towards the right. The dog, which has a black collar and a patch on its back, is looking up at him. In the center background, a large, portly man with a mustache, wearing a traditional Chinese-style robe with circular patterns and a cap, stands holding a cigarette. NOT DIFFICULT TACK TO CHANGE FIRE COUPLINGS

Chief McGillan Promises His Support To Standards For Valley

It is not necessarily a difficult or expensive task to change the equipment of Appleton fire department and that of other cities of the Fox river valley to standard size hose couplings, George P. McGillan chief of the local department says.

Appleton does not possess the standard equipment now, but if other cities desire to make the change the chief will make a like request to the common council here.

Chief McGillan is unable to present figures as to the cost of altering the hydrant and hose couplings but he is making inquiries along that line so he will be ready for any developments. He advocated this same move among the valley cities when it was proposed several years ago by the Insurance Underwriters' board. There was an apparent lack of interest then so he let the matter drop. Considerable data were in his possession at that time as to cost of the change.

HELP EACH OTHER

The movement for the change is being promoted throughout the valley by Appleton Chamber of Commerce so one department can help another readily in case of a big fire. Letters received from Fond du Lac, Oshkosh and De Pere are in hearty accord. Fond du Lac and Combined Locks are the only places with standard couplings now.

About all that is necessary in standardizing the couplings, according to the chief, is to rethread them to the correct size and number of threads. Tools may be obtained for this purpose from the state underwriters' board and city employees can do the work.

A device called an adapter is put into use while the change is being made. This is an attachment that will fit any hydrant or hose coupling, no matter what size the threads are. Six of these are carried out the fire trucks now and more will be purchased if necessary for use during the change.

Oshkosh fire department urged the use of these adapters for interim fire fighting work instead of changing the hydrants to standard connections, but Chief McGillan believes there are many disadvantages in this practice. Adapters, because of varying springs, may become out of order and valuable seconds are lost at fires when it is necessary to attach them. The slight cost of standardizing is worth the additional protection, he says. Anything in equipment that delays or confuses may prove costly.

FAMOUS STAGE STAR IN MYSTERY MELODRAMA

William Courtney, favorite stage and screen star, and Marguerite Snow come to the New Bijou Theatre Sunday in "The Hunting of the Hawk," a mystery story of gentleman crooks and Secret Service men, of mistaken identities, and a charming romance.

Robert Deschamps, clubman and globe trotter, is suspected of being "The Hawk," a notorious international gentleman crook. His hunter is known to have once been a counterfeiter. Which is the hunter and which the hunted?

To complicate the story, Deschamps loves a girl who proves to be the wife of the other man. Until the very end the mystery and suspense is maintained, proving that, as a crook melodrama, "The Hunting of the Hawk" is in the topnotch class.

RISING ONE'S LIFE IS A SMALL MATTER IN MOTION PICTURES

and dragging the horse on which Dunne rides at breakneck speed toward the post and almost certain death.

"The Steel Trail" is a thrilling story of the building of a railroad, in which Dunne, as the fighting construction engineer, battles with the elements and with motors inside his organization to push his road to completion.

The second chapter shows a thrilling escape from pursuers in the wilderness, a desperate fight at a meeting of radical agitators in which the engineer pits himself against a horde of "reds" and the hair-raising semaphore adventure, in which a heavy runaway car drags the two toward death. Their escape is one of the most ingenious devices ever put into a motion picture story.

INCE PAINTS PICTURE OF MIGHTY PASSION

Love that glorifies and exalts; passion that sears and rends. Those are the scenes for which every picture producer strives and yearns. Those are the scenes that lift screen offerings from the run of the common-place to the realm of the "unforgettable" that make stars overnight.

Outstanding in the mind of every picture lover are favorite love scenes that live in memory long after productions themselves have been forgotten.

Thomas H. Ince has contributed one of the most powerful love scenes of recent productions in his screen adaptation of "Anna Christie." There is no seductive moonlight; no shadowed arbor; no crackling fire as a background for this remarkable scene. The hero painted a picture of mighty passion—and told it in the cabin of a coal barge. This picture, a First National release, will be shown at the Elite theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Branche Sweet has been a favorite with the picture followers since "Jubilee of Bohemia" lifted her to highest stardom. In "Anna Christie" she proves herself an emotional actress of first water. Only a genius could have conceived the gripping situation which works out in the final love scenes of this drama of stark realism. Only an artist could have screened the scene with complete realism that at the same time lacks any suggestion of offense.

Eugene O'Neill conceived a dramatic love scene that is unique and has been stamped with the approval of two continents as it has been portrayed on the stage in this drama. Ince has filmed it with a master's touch that promises to put the picture in the foremost ranks of the "great" productions of the silver screen.

TIPS FOR TAXPAYERS

To determine his net income a taxpayer must first compute his gross income. Regardless of the amount of net income, upon which the tax is assessed, a return is required of every individual whose gross income for 1923 was $3,000 or more. Gross income includes salaries, wages, and compensation for personal services rendered, and "gains, profits, and income from professions, vocations, trades, businesses, commerce, sales, or dealings in property real or personal."

• • • or the transaction of any business carried on for profit, or gains or profits, and income derived from any source whatever. Net income is gross income less certain specified deductions for business expenses, losses, bad debts, contributions, etc.

Taxpayers may be divided into four general classes—the wage earner or salaried class, business, professional, and agricultural. All compensation for personal services received by a salaried person or wage earner is income, including salaries, commissions, bonuses, fees, pensions paid retired employees, and tips.

The gross income of the usual business consists of the gross profits on sales, together with income from investments and from incidental or outside operations or sources. The return must show the gross sales, purchases, and cost of goods sold. To reflect net income correctly, in any business in which the production, purchase, or sale of merchandise is an income-producing factor, inventories are necessary at the beginning and end of each taxable year.

The lawyer, doctor, architect, author, dentist, clergyman, or other professional man must include all fees salaries, and compensation for professional services.

The farmer is required to report as gross income all profits derived from the sale or exchange of farm products and livestock, whether produced on the farm or purchased and resold. The fair market value of groceries or merchandise exchanged for farm products must be included, also profits from renting a farm on the crop-share basis, and the rental and sale of farm lands.

Appleton high school Friday night came up from behind and beat Oshkosh high school, 18 to 17 at Armory G and thereby kept its place clean. The Appleton team, coached by Guy Barlow, humbled the Oshkosh team, 18 to 17, in the first game. At the end of the first period of the main attraction the score was 4 to 4, but in the second quarter the invaders copied a lead of three points, bringing the score 10 to 7. Early in the third period, but still further increased their lead, but a desperate spurt in which Scheurle dropped the ball through the circle, for two fieldgoals and as many free throws evened up the tally, and two baskets in the final quarter by Hornbeck and Courtney while Oshkosh was making a fieldgoal and a free throw, gave Wilson's men the game by one point.

Oshkosh drew first blood when Johnson scored a brilliant shot in the first minute of play, and Hamer, guard, followed up with another. Hornbeck missed a couple of free throws for Appleton, but made up for his failure when he shot the sphere into the basket from the side line. A basket by Courtney had evened the score when the period ended.

OSHKOSH TAKES LEAD
Kell, Appleton forward, made a long shot right off the reel in the second period, but the advantage wasn't with Appleton long. Johnson went two field goals in rapid succession, and when Heywood followed with another, the fans went wild. A free throw by Kell at the end of the half made the tally 10 to 7 in favor of the invaders.

Appleton scored two more points for Oshkosh when he broke through the Appleton defense for another basket, and Oshkosh made it 14 to 9 after Scheurle had dropped the sphere through the net for two free throws. Cheers and yells apparently had the desired effect on the local youngsters, for they drove the ball through the strong Oshkosh defense time after time, and Scheurle made a couple of brilliant fieldgoals and a free throw, which tied the score 14 to 14, where it stood when the shot was fired at the end of the third period.

TEAMS MAKE FINAL SPURT
The fourth quarter was an exhibition of playing which can hardly be surpassed. Both teams heightened up, and put forth all the speed they had. Oshkosh missed a chance for an important point when a free throw went wide of the mark, and when Courtney dropped the ball into the ring immediately thereafter, cheers filled the hall with a deafening clamor. Heywood profited by a final spurt of his teammates to shoot a basket and tie the score, 16 to 16, with but a minute or two to go. The Orange team chased the ball under the invaders' basket and Hornbeck made a brilliant shot, giving his team a two point lead. The fans went wild when Johnson stepped to the line for a doubtful free throw. He made the first, but missed the second. Oshkosh had the ball in the Appleton end of the floor and was manuevering for a shot when the game ended.

The lineup: Oshkosh—Johnson, RF; Heywood, LF; Hotchkiss, C; Hansen, RG; Briggs, LG.
Appleton—Hornbeck, RF; Kell, LF; Scheurle, C; Courtney, RF; Hillman, LG.
Substitutes—Bowlby for Hornbeck.

APPLETON SECURDS WIN
In the curtain raiser, Guy Barlow's second string team led from the start when Lutz made a fieldgoal, and Heble followed with two fieldgoals while the Oshkosh seconds missed their opportunity for a couple of points by throwing away on two free throws.

That came back in the second quarter when Barlow dropped the sphere into the ring for a basket and followed it up with a couple of free throws. But Heble and Lutz regained the lead for Appleton with a free throw and a fieldgoal and at the end of the half the local men were in the lead 8 to 4.

Oshkosh did not sleep in the third period, while Heble, Elker and Lutz each made a basket. Lutz's shot was the most sensational of the evening. He got hold of the ball on the wrong end of the floor, and seeing no immediate possibility of passing took advantage of his open position, shot the ball at the basket and dropped it through without so much as touching the ring. The Oshkosh youth made a desperate attempt to overtake their opponents in the third quarter, but failed to profit thereby. They repeatedly brought the ball to Appleton territory, but Barlow's youngsters were watching their men and prevented them from dropping the ball in the basket. However two double fouls gave the invaders a chance to gain. Kohn and Barlow each made two perfect free throws. Heble and Lutz each made a basket in the first half, and when the whistle blew for

WILLS-FIRPO BOUT PLANNED TO PICK JACK'S OPPONENT

Preliminary Negotiations Opened For Battle Between Negro And Argentine

New York—The 1924 heavyweight fight, in which prizes are opportunities to the Jack Dempsey, Saturday appeared to provide engagements for all contenders with the announcement of Tex Rickard today of preliminary negotiations for a bout here early in July between Harry Wills, Negro challenger, and Luis Angel Firpo, South American giant, who last exchanged fastuffs with the champion.

Rickard declared that he had submitted a proposal for a bout at the Polo Grounds, the winner to meet Dempsey on Labor day in some local arena. He conferred with Wills and his manager, Jody Mullins, who he said, promised to answer the proposition some time next week.

Mullins asserted he probably would accept if he found it impossible to get a crack at the champion without taking on the Argentine first.

Rickard's declaration followed closely by his announcement that he had practically closed negotiations for a turn championship bout between Dempsey and Tommy Gibbons, who lasted 15 rounds with the champion at Shelby, Mont., last summer. The fight, it was said, would be held in the Metropolitan arena in May or June.

Two or three title contenders are also in the field. Ermino Spilla, European champion, is on his way to South America where he expects to attempt to brush the mighty Luis out of the path of his championship aspirations. Jack Renault of Canada is also a likely opponent for the "Wild Bull."

2 Weeks Left To Enter Ice Title Races

Less than two weeks remain for getting in entries to the second annual skating tournament which the Appleton Post-Crescent will conduct at the Jones park rink on Sunday, Feb. 3. Entries must be in by Friday, Jan. 25.

A large number of skaters who were in last year's races have not entered so far this year. They are invited to compete again to make this tournament one of the outstanding winter events of the state. Gold and silver medals will be given to winners of first and second places in each of the eleven events and a silver loving cup goes to the city champion. Mayor Henry Reuter will present the trophies to the winners immediately after the races.

Definite rules for the races are being formulated and officials are being selected. The most competent officials available will be selected to assure justice to the competitors and snappy entertainment for the spectators.

Skaters are urged to fill in the entry blank on this page and send or bring it to the skating editor of the Post-Crescent as soon as possible. The future of ice skating tournaments in this city depends upon the interest which skaters take in the tourney.

Hoppe Outplays Welker Cochran, 500 To 467, In Second Block

By Associated Press
Boston—Walker Cochran of Los Angeles Saturday night will have the severe task of out-scoring Willie Hoppe, veteran billiard champion, 657 points to 500 in the final block of their 1,500 point match in his quest for the world's 18.3 balkline title. Hoppe, who forged 124 points ahead of the challenger in the opening night's play increased his margin to 157 points in Friday night's block, outscoring Cochran 600 to 467. The gross score for the two blocks stands, Hoppe 1,000, Cochran 843. The 14th of the 15 Friday night completed the 1,000 points with an unfinished run of 34 and Saturday night will have the added advantage of starting with the balls strung along the rail in good position.

The champion's average for two nights is 27.9 against 23.5 for Cochran. Cochran's high run is 142 and Hoppe's 123.

POST-CRESCENT JUNIORS HUMBLE BANKERS, 20 TO 16

Post-Crescent Juniors Friday night took the Oshkosh National Bank contest to a 20 to 16 clinching in a contest in the Appleton Y. M. C. A. and thereby got revenge for the drubbing received a week ago.

At the end of the first half the Bankers were in the lead, 8 to 6, but the Printers staged a comeback which knocked the Bankers off their feet in the second, and gave the Post-Crescents the victory.

APPLETON HOCKEY TEAM WILL INVADE NEENAH ON SUNDAY

Walter Bell Starts On Puck-chasing Schedule With Aggregation Of Experts

Appleton's hockey team plays its first game of the season Sunday afternoon at Columbian park in Neenah, when Bell's men clash with the Neenah American Legion aggregation.

Walter Bell and his brother B. Bell, together with the Sharp brothers are experienced ice skaters and puck chasers, who form the nucleus of one of the strongest teams in the Valley league. The Neenah team has had greater experience than the local men, and humbled Kankana in a practice game at the Electric city last week.

Appleton was scheduled to meet Oshkosh last Sunday for the opening game, but the weather prevented the contest. Fans are showing considerable interest in the showing of the Appleton outfit. They started playing late last year, and this is the first time in years that Appleton is represented in an ice hockey loop.
